

Heber Matron Observes 80th Birthday Here

As 1940 drew to a close, Mrs. Joseph Smith of Heber became 80 years old and entered her sixtieth year of married life. Mrs. Smith was 80 on the last day of the year. Just missing being a New Years baby on that day 80 years ago when she was born into the family of a Scottish coal miner.

A few days prior to her birthday this year, Mrs. Smith and her husband quietly observed their 59th wedding anniversary and entered on their 60th year of married life. Mr. Smith was 80 in September.

Mrs. Smith was born in Scotland and came to America, and Heber, when she was only two years old. Her father was killed in a coal mine disaster, and her mother joined the Mormon church and brought her eight children to Zion's land of promise. Church funds brought the family here, but with typical pioneer integrity, the five boys of the family secured work and repaid every cent the voyage cost them.

As Isabell Lindsay, Mrs. Smith grew to womanhood in Heber, not paying much attention to a strapping young man named Joe Smith until she reached the age of about 18. Then they met while working for the same employer in Red Pine canyon, and from there on it was only a question of time. The time came about two years later, when they were married the day following Christmas in 1881.

Mr. Smith was born in Heber only a year after the valley was permanently settled, and claims with a twinkle in his eye, that he trudged out to London creek at the age of two and met Isabell when she first arrived in the valley. His father, Ephriam Smith built the valley's first tannery, made the first shoes ever manufactured here, and brought the valley's first threshing machine from Provo. The rock home built by his father at the corner of Fourth East and Fourth North street holds many fond memories for Heber people who were young a long time ago. Its upp story was converted into a dance hall and many a pioneer waltz and hoe-down took place within the old sand rock walls.

Joe and Bell reared 11 children, and they live today in the frame house which he built, every joint and sill, in 1883. His pioneer bride, though, was not one to stand idly by, even if it was a man's work of building a house. And take it from her husband, the good carpenter.

Kara Lynne Farr's School of Dance Visit Heber Valley Care Center

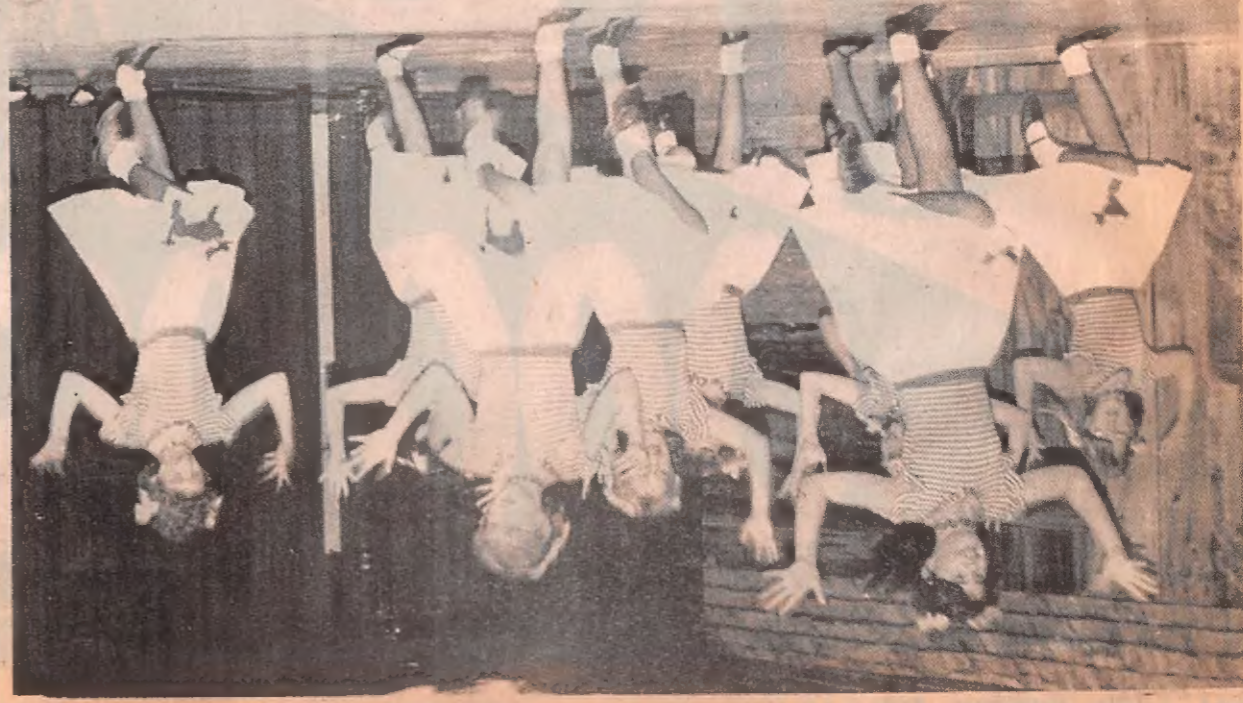

Students from Kara Lynne Farr's School of Dance brought the joy of youth through music and dance to residents of the Heber Valley Care Center on Thursday. The students, aged 3 to 17, performed different types of dance from jazz to ballet.

The reward to the children for adding happiness to the lives of the elderly made each child richer for the joy that they had succeeded in bringing to the care center. It was a draw as to who had benefited most from the experience.

The children will make a total of three visits to the care center, one each week. This Thursday will be the last day of the scheduled performances.

Miss Turner Will Open Dance Studio in Heber

Miss Julie Ann Turner, a student of Dance for 12 years will open a studio in Heber City. She will teach classes in tap, jazz, ballet, acrobatics, ballroom and cheerleading. The classes will be given on Thursday thru the rest of the summer, then continue through the winter months on Saturday. The classes will be open for 4-year-olds and above.

Julie is a graduate of Orem High School and will enroll at BYU this fall where she will join the Ballroom Dance Team. She holds the bronze and silver medals in international-style ballroom dancing and traveled to California to participate in the Star Ball. She and her partner represented the BYU as Junior Competitors.

As Becky Thatcher in the musical Dance production of Tom

Sawyer she won much acclaim. She has danced on many programs and shows, and represented the City of Orem in Utah County Talent find. She has been a featured dancer for five years at the Miss Orem Pageant and dance the Theme at the Miss Wasatch County Contest in Heber.

Each summer for seven years she has attended dance conservatories in Salt Lake and at these conservatories she has learned the latest trends in the field of dance. She and her class were asked by Al Gilbert, Hollywood, California, dance teacher, to demonstrate a tap routine to the rest of the teachers.

She is also a gymnast placing 2nd in region 4 and 3rd in the state meet on the balance beam.

Besides this busy life of being a dancer, Julie has found time to perfect skiing and is presently an instructor for Sundance. Her senior year in high school Julie served as a Varsity Cheerleader and a member of the Orchestis Dance Club. She is the daughter of LaVaun and Lloyd Turner of Orem, Utah.
